(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 11.—
Constable John Fee, 36, Beaver Falls constable, was shot and killed in an automobile near the Pennsylvania railroad station today.

Police held Calvin Davis, 42, and Norman Blinn, 21, alleged to have ridden from Beaver Falls to Rochester with Fee and to have taken the fatally wounded man to the Rochester General Hospital. No charge was placed against either man.

Blinn was quoted by police as saying that he left the machine at the railroad station and started to walk away. Police said Blinn told them he heard a shot and that when he turned around Davis was waving a gun over his head and Fee was slumped in his seat in the car.

Will Construct Modern Building On Diamond Site

Architect Wirsing Now
Drawing Plans For New
Mathews-Garbett
Building

CONSTRUCTION TO BE STARTED AT ONCE

Plans have been completed by the Mathews heirs for the construction of a modern two-story business structure on the Diamond, which will replace the storerooms damaged by fire early in May, at 8-14
East Washington street.

The new building will be entirely modern of steel, brick and concrete and will contain four storerooms on the first floor, with office space on the second floor. It will use the entire depth of the lots, 75 feet, and each store room will be fifteen feet in width. It will be known as the Mathews-Garbett building.

Announcement of these plans was made today by Architect Harry M.
Wirsing who has been engaged in drawing plans for the new structure.
Contract for the removal of the old building and the construction of the new building have been awarded to L. A. Haag, contractor.

Work will be started on the building as soon as the present structures, badly damaged by the recent fire, can be removed and it will be possible to complete as rapidly as possible.

The new structure will be a great improvement to the Diamond business section, and will remove a fire hazard which has been a menace to the Diamond since the building and Bleakley Inn Hotel building of obsolete wooden construction.

With work to be started soon on the construction of the new Post Office building, this new structure will greatly enhance the appearance of the Diamond when the two structures are completed.

Cleveland Man Killed In Auto Wreck At Mercer

Taken Suddenly And Severely Ill, He Loses Control Of His Machine

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., June 11.—Robert Mitchell, aged 58, of Cleveland, O., was instantly killed, his wife, Zula aged about 40, sustained a severe laceration of the arm and their eleven-month old son Robert Jr., escaped injury at eleven o'clock this morning, when the Mitchell car went over an embankment near the Sharon road near Mercer and was wrecked.

Mrs. Mitchell, who was removed to the hospital here, stated that her husband was suddenly overcome by a severe illness, apparently a stroke, after being returning to Cleveland, as they were returning to inspect some farm land. He lost control and the machine went over the embankment.

Coroner W. C. Applegate of Sharon, who with Sgt. Edward Burgen of the State police, investigated the accident, were of the opinion that Mitchell suffered a stroke of apoplexy, and died as the result of this, although he received serious injuries about the head when the car went over the embankment. He was dead when he arrived at the hospital.

Third Degree?

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 11.—The suggestion that Violet Sharpe may have been a victim of the third degree "was made by the London Evening Standard today.

"It's quite possible," the newspaper said, "that the merciless cross-examination of the girl by police may have caused her to lose her reason."

The theory was based on a letter to her mother in a Miss Sharpe's reference to the "terrible questioning of police."

CHECK MONEY OF CAB DRIVER WITH NUMBERS ON RANSOM NOTES PAID BY DR. CONDON

Cab Driver Is In Custody As Alleged March 1 Companion Of Maid In Morrow Home Who Committed Suicide Late Friday—Police Say Dr.
Condon Has Not Identified Him—
Suspect Claims Alibi

NEW YORK, June 11.—Ernest Brinkert today as having paid a garage bill in New Rochelle yesterday with bank notes of the same denomination, year and series as those which made up the $50,000 ransom money paid by Dr. John F. Condon to the representative of the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby.

The man who police claim was out with Violet Sharpe, the Morrow maid who took her life yesterday just before she was to be questioned by New Jersey State Police, paid the money to a garage owner who becoming suspicious turned the notes over to Director of Public Safety James A. Turley.

"A treasury agent" Turley said, "is now checking the serial number of the bills against the numbers on the ransom notes."

May Be Coincidence.

State police at Trenton would not say whether they had confronted the still cool and collected Brinkert with this knowledge. They admit that the fact the bills were of the same denomination and series may be a mere coincidence but insist that the coincidence is one which must be investigated.

Turley revealed today that Brinkert had been cool and impudent from the start. Before he would wave extradition he insisted upon a physical examination.

"I have heard of these New Jersey
'questionings,'" Brinkert said,
"and I want to come back in the same way I left."

Brinkert was first taken to Jersey City by the police who came to New Rochelle to apprehend him.

From there he was whisked to Albany, N. Y., the home of the New Jersey state police. He was questioned there thoroughly and asked to view the belongings of the dead girl.

PREPARE FOR HOUSE VOTE ON BONUS BILL

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A flood of propaganda for and against cash payment of the $2,400,000,000 soldiers' bonus described on the house today as it prepared to take the first step toward passage on Monday.

Letters and telegrams received by worried and weary legislators were supplemented by the personal appeals of the thousands of "bonus vets" who continued to stream through the capitol.

Despite strong opposition, passage is generally predicted in the house.
Leading opponents join in the forecast.

Backed of cash payment, on the other hand, frankly admit there is little prospect of the measure of Rep. Patman (D) of Texas becoming law. If the senate does not stop it, a veto will be upheld in either senate or house, they say.

The measure will come before the house on a motion of Patman to discharge the rules committee from further consideration of the cash payment bill. A vote of 250 for to 180 against was generally predicted if there is a full attendance.

If this motion carries the house must then adopt a rule and the bill probably will lay over until Tuesday, when it may be passed.

Chicago Banker Is Mentioned As Roosevelt's Mate

MOVE BEING MADE QUIETLY AS YET

Do Not Care To Embarrass
Roosevelt With Nam-

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A quiet campaign to draft Melvin A. Traylor noted Chicago banker, as the running mate of Governor Franklin D.
Roosevelt, if the latter wins the Democratic presidential nomination was proceeding today among the New Yorker's friends.

The choice of Traylor was reported acceptable to Roosevelt.
The Traylor boom was conducted in guarded fashion, since the New York governor has not yet won the presidential nomination. His advisers urged him to proceed carefully on the ticket would ally any alarm in the East against the attitude of the Democratic party on fiscal and economic questions.

One Roosevelt follower declared the New York governor, if nominated with Traylor, would announce immediately that he intended to rely on the banker's advice on financial issues in event of victory. Such a pronouncement, the Rooseveltians felt, would win support for the Democratic ticket in the business centers of the nation.

In connection with the march of ex-service men towards the nation's capitol, an interesting side-light on the attitude of some of the marchers has been discovered. Those who stopped at the Red Cross office seeking assistance while here, were asked to show their discharge papers, and in several instances, it was found that the veterans in the ranks of the marchers would have but $50 to $100 coming, if they were paid. They were willing to endure all sorts of hardships in their march across the country to secure this small amount.

The post office has been instructed to complete arrangements for the inauguration of the new postal rates which take effect July 6, it was learned today. They expect to give out a full statement of explanation on Monday describing the increases.

izing both closely this morning while Brinkert continued to offer a smiling and impudent front to the questioning of Inspector Harry A. Walsh of Jersey City.

Police Report
Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf resumed his former custom of issuing press bulletins this morning. His morning bulletin follows:

"Ernest Brinkert, held by the New Rochelle police, volunteered to go to the Alpine station of the state police and subject himself to any questioning and investigation desired. At the present time he is at the Alpine station of the New Jersey State police and the investigation of him is being continued.

"He has an alibi for his whereabouts on March 1 and 2 stating that he and his wife were in Bridgeport, Conn., and spent the night of the first and second in a very nice home owned by a Negro at that place. This is being investigated.

Picture Identified
"The man now at Alpine under the name of Ernest Brinkert is the same man whose picture we have and which picture was shown to Violet Sharpe. The picture of him in our possession was obtained from the license bureau and is very evidently a picture of the man now at Alpine.

"Brinkert's handwriting, including that on his license application, as well as samples given to us at Alpine, is being submitted to one of the handwriting experts today for comparison with the handwriting in the kidnappers notes.

"Brinkert speaks very good English and has no perceptible accent of any kind.

"Dr. Condon interviewed Ernest Brinkert in New Rochelle last night and after talking to him told the police authorities that he did not recognize him and had never seen him before and could make no identification of him in any way.

"No word has been received from the Detroit police nor from our investigators in Detroit and we have not as yet as to the arrest of Robert Burns, (this in response to a question), nor the reason for which he was arrested.

Sister Went To England
"Edna Sharpe, sister of Violet Sharpe, left for England on April 6, four days after the ransom was paid, and Scotland Yard has been requested to carry on an extensive investigation as to her possible connection with the Lindbergh case. No report has as yet been received from Scotland Yard.

"On the can containing the poison was a label indicating that the contents were cyanide chloride. At the bottom of the label there was printed "sold by Elmer and Amend, New York." This is a wholesale drug house and investigators are there this morning starting on a trace of the poison.

"The only time that Violet Sharpe was at Hopewell was when she was brought there several weeks ago for questioning. At that time she stated that she had never been to Hopewell before.

"An advance report from Dr. Ralph Gillady, county physician of Bergen county, indicates that Violet Sharpe died of cyanide poisoning. A careful examination of all vital organs reveals that she was perfectly normal in every way.

"A messenger has been sent to Englewood for Violet Sharpe's and Edna Sharpe's photographs and upon receipt of the same we will be glad to release them to the press room. It will probably be five hours or more before they are received here."

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 11.—Ernest Brinkert, the New Rochelle taxicab driver who police claim was Violet Sharpe's companion on the night of the Lindbergh kidnapping, was being led through a nerve wracking ordeal of questioning today by Inspector Harry Walsh of Jersey City, the man who "broke" John Hughes Curtis and the man conceded to be New Jersey's cleverest police interrogator.

Over and over again he has told his story to Walsh and Lieut. Walter Keaton of the Jersey State police. Again and again as they drove from New Rochelle to Jersey City; from Jersey City to Hopewell; and from Hopewell to Trenton Brinkert told them laughingly—defiantly—that he had spent the night of March 1 with his wife in Bridgeport, Conn.

Has Two Wives.
Checking up on his alibi, led to the police discovery that Brinkert apparently has two wives. One Mrs. Helen Brinkert said that she had separated from him in 1927 "had not seen or heard of him since then and cared nothing for him."

For a moment police thought they had discovered the flaw in the cab drivers story but then Brinkert, impudent and sneering, told them that he meant his present wife Mrs. Mary Brinkert.

Another hurried trip to New Rochelle revealed that the second Mrs. Brinkert supported his alibi. She also was held for further questioning.

Meanwhile the aged Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jaisie" of the unsuccessful negotiations had been confronted with Brinkert. Police wanted to know if he had "John" to whom he had paid the $50,000 ransom.

Condon peered intently at the laughing and still defiant Brinkert and admitted that he didn't "look like him."

While Walsh and Keaton, two masters in the art of questioning, were cajoling, and persuading Brinkert to tell them the truth. Other details under the command of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf were working on other aspects of the case.

Girl Made Money Deposits.
It had been reported that Violet Sharpe made several large deposits of money in her bank account shortly after Condon had represented the $50,000 to the kidnappers. Was this a coincidence or was it an yet vague and intangible thread that might link the dead girl to the crime? No one knows yet but police are investigating her bank account and searching through bank records in an effort to see whether or not she might have made other deposits.

"The police were giving out virtually no information. Patiently they explained to questioners that "they had nothing to say yet." Where was Brinkert? "Oh, he's out with Harry Walsh somewhere?" they said smilingly. "Is there any real link between Brinkert and the kidnapping?" The police shrug their shoulders. "Wait until Harry Walsh comes in."

Inspector Harry Walsh, unknown outside of Jersey City three months ago is now the man of the hour. By skillful cajoling, never abusing or bullying, he made Curtis confess his hoax. Now he is working on an impudent, hard boiled cab driver. His methods may be different but he will get the truth from the New Rochelle man who may be just another innocent pawn in this game which started in the Sourland mountains on March 1 and which came to its first great climax when the pitiful remains of the 23 months old Lindbergh baby were found beside a Jersey road.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Ernest Brinkert, ex-convict chauffeur arrested in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping-murder, today waived extradition proceedings at the New Rochelle police station.

He was taken into custody by the Jersey City police, who started with him for Jersey City.

Brinkert, a former White Plains, N. Y. garage owner, signed the waiver "Brenkert," according to police.

His arrest came after Violet Sharpe, comely English maid in the household of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, grandmother of the stolen baby, at Englewood, a short while before her sudden suicide identified Brinkert as a "stray acquaintance" who was with her and others on a party the night of March 1, when the infant was stolen.

Brinkert was reported to have told police he did not know Violet Sharpe, and that he had never seen her.

While the selection of candidates for president and vice president seem to be limited to Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis, the Chicago convention will undoubtedly provide a lot of color in the fight over the platform. Prohibition, and unemployment are two issues which will be given considerable discussion before the resolutions committee, and the outlook is that instead of battling over a presidential nominee this convention will do most of its battling on the platform of the party.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT'S DILEMMA

GOVERNOR Franklin D. Roosevelt has been put on the spot by Samuel Seabury, counsel for the legislative committee investigating administrative affairs in New York City. Seabury has submitted to the Governor the evidence which relates to Mayor Walker. He asserts that the Mayor is unfit to continue in office. The Governor must decide whether Seabury is right, whether the Mayor should be removed or whether Jimmy the Joker is entitled to remain.

It is a dilemma in which the Governor finds himself. He will not be obliged to act before the Democratic National Convention, hence he will be able, if he sees fit, to keep Tammany guessing. The Tammany delegation may, therefore, conclude that his wise course will be to side with Roosevelt at the convention.

But the convention is one thing. The election is another. The Walker incident has become a national affair. Favor shown the Mayor might arouse the wrath of Tammany haters both South and West. Walker relieved of duty would surely anger the Tammany hordes in New York. Not a pleasant situation for a Governor seeking popular support to face. He will be damned if he does and damned if he doesn't.

PREPARING FOR THE NEW THREE-CENT STAMP

No item in the new tax bill will have more intimate application to the rank and file of the people than the increase in the price of first class postage from two to three cents. Everybody uses the postoffice, and consequently there will be universal interest and curiosity over the change, which is scheduled to go into effect on July 6. Heretofore when new kinds of stamps were issued the collectors have been the ones chiefly concerned. In this instance the people everywhere await them eagerly if not joyfully.

The preparations being made for the issuance of these stamps illustrates the fact that the United States Government does things on a big scale. Even before the President signed the revenue bill the Bureau of Engraving and Printing had been turning out the new stamps at the rate of 100,000,000 a day. Before the presses stop no less than four billion will be ready for distribution. A penny seems insignificant, yet this one item in the tax bill—in addition to second class postal increases—will net the Government $160,000,000 in added revenue. It is expected that the stamps will be put on sale in the Washington Postoffice on June 16, but it may be some days later before the general distribution has been made.

Naturally many persons will have quantities of the old two-cent stamps on hand, but the Postoffice Department is helping to solve their dilemma by printing a billion one-cent stamps to add to the old ones in order to meet the new rate. Three varieties of the three-cent stamps will be issued, the current Lincoln three-cent stamp, the three-cent stamp of the Washington bicentennial series, and a new stamp of the same design as the old two-cent stamp.

LENGTHENING THE SPAN

The conquest, in whole or in part, of many diseases, especially those which affect the earlier years of life, has caused great satisfaction among American medics. It is a common saying these days that one is only as old as he or she looks. The similarity in appearance between flapper and grandmother is stock in trade of the comic section. On all sides is heard the laughing comment that no one need be old any more, and there is a truly pathetic effort not to appear so. We all talk continually of the marvels of modern medicine and try to envisage even greater achievements in the future.

But against this roseate prospect is realization of the stern fact that heart disease, kidney ailments, cancer and other maladies of middle and later life are getting in their ever more deadly work. It is apparent that whatever the victories of medical science over the germ assaults upon the earlier years, the degenerative diseases which come later are still the supreme conquerors. It is not altogether clear whether all these degenerative afflictions merely have more material to work upon because more lives are saved for old age, or whether they have increased as well.

What is old age physiologically? One school of thought holds that old age is a health rather than a time proposition. There are decrepitude and invalidity, but not old age. If infections, poisons, strains, excesses and deficiencies could be kept away we would live much longer. Others hold that the body normally wears out, that it has a cycle of its own.

NEED FOR LIVING AT HOME

Back to the farm movement—not to grow crops to sell upon an already glutted market, but for producing a living at home—is the most hopeful means of unemployment-relief. So asserts James E. McDonald, Texas State Commissioner of Agriculture, who advanced such a plan last fall. Governor Roosevelt of New York consistently has advocated such a scheme, as a temporary relief measure. However, Commissioner McDonald states that of the seven to nine million persons unemployed in this country, many have lost their jobs permanently—having been displaced by labor-saving machinery or other development. Some of the country's best citizens, who have contributed to support of the Government, schools and constructive enterprises in their respective communities, are in that situation, he says.

To relegate such citizens to the breadline, or to put them on a dole, would involve something worse than individual shame—it would be a social tragedy. Furthermore, by such a course the country would be throwing away combined material and moral assets of great potential value. By colonizing those people on the farm, in self-contained rural communities, the assets might be conserved.—The San Antonio Evening News.

TAKING YOUR MEDICINE

Have you become bitter because a bit of hard luck has made it impossible for you to remain a member of a crowd of expensive friends? Why blame your luck for this "predicament" as you call it? Instead of blaming yourself, you seek to shift blame for your misfortunes.

You had your chance to make good—to provide financially against such a position as you find yourself. If you had used good sense instead of gratifying desires too expensive for a man of your means to support, you might have fortified yourself.

Of course you would have had to deny yourself many things that your family as well as you yourself enjoyed.

It requires a large income to meet the demands of most people and nearly everyone in possession of money has had to curb desires.

But with your good income you would not deny yourself what you wanted.

In fact you regulated your expenses by the amount you could get to spend. You had a good time and now you are paying for it.

You deserved to strike the stone wall and it has come. Don't be a grumbler about it. Take your medicine and smile. (Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WHEN THE BABY ARRIVES

When a little baby comes
Little fingers, little thumbs,
Little chubby feet and toes
And the little button nose
Give the mother more delight
Than the stars which shine at night.

Others race to get a view
Of that little baby new.
Come the grandmas hastening there
In the happiness to share,
And among the wondering crowd
Walk the grandpas, very proud.

Comes a most devoted aunt,
Who no other can supplant.
To discover endless charms
In those little dimpled arms
And to bring, as aunts do,
Little gifts of pink or blue.

So in manners quaint and strange
Thus the lives of many change.
With new hope the future gleams,
New delights, new cares, new dreams,
And with joy the old world hums
When a little baby comes.

Butler Wins Few Converts For Third Party Movement

Educator Attracts Attention To His Theory As To Need In National Politics But Fails To Convince Public That It Is Feasible

Is there a real movement toward a third party? The pronouncement by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler in a recent speech that that is what is needed is analyzed by editors, who find a need but not a prospect of any direct action.

Discussing Dr. Butler's view that "the two major political parties in this country have become mixtures of conflicting opinions and aims, vehicles of platitudes and indefinite pronouncements and under the control of office-holding, incompetents," the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION suggests that this statement "will find a wide response in a public that would not, however, fully agree with his conception of what parties should stand for." The Union continues with the thought: "Most people would like their party to stand squarely and unequivocally what they individually believe. That, in reality, is Dr. Butler's desire, which he embodies in fourteen points as a 'splendid break with tradition,' could it be brought about by conference in party conventions."

"Dr. Butler's proposal will be called impractical," declares the WALL STREET JOURNAL. "And so it is; almost as impractical as our present scheme for cultivating political disorder." Dr. Butler is just too right for any use.

Quoting the 14 points outlined in the proposed party's platform, the NEW LONDON DAY concedes that Dr. Butler has "first-class issues for this party, having borrowed a number that both major parties have long been concerned with, but has included so many other hotly disputed problems that it is doubtful if he could gather and hold any considerable number of voters who would agree with all of them." The SAN JOSE MERCURY HERALD emphasizes the lack of accord in the public attitude at the present time and adds: "Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler says that the two old parties are bankrupt on the vital issues of the day and that a third party should be formed to enable the intelligent progressive citizens to unite. When there is an accord among these on questions on which existing parties avoid taking a stand, there is no need for a third party," comments this paper, as it asks: "On what questions avoided by the old parties is there an accord among the general body of intelligent citizens?" It then proceeds to quote eminent authorities on both sides of such vital problems as the tariff, prohibition, war debts, world court and others.

"We shall have to continue in the historic American way, with the Republican and Democratic parties each going it alone," suggests the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, remarking: "Of course, if Dr. Butler wishes to organize a 'Liberal' party on his own hook and invite all the discontented Republicans and Democrats to join it, that is something else. But we don't believe he would get very far with such a scheme. Indeed, the records of third, fourth, fifth and sixth parties in the United States does not encourage the forming of another party any sort just now." The HARTFORD DAILY TIMES comments: "Sometimes we are tempted to agree with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, in the text of his speech to the National Industrial Conference Board. He said the nation-wide Republican party of Lincoln is dead, and the nation-wide Democratic party of Jefferson is dead. Often it seems as if both parties were worse than dead, fossilized," declares The Times, but qualifies its statement by saying: "There is evolution and change in parties. We do not consider that the Democratic party is dead, or that the Republican party is dead, or that a few years, called upon to face such totally new problems as have come up in recent years, neither of them seems to know precisely where it is at, each army consisting of a surplusage of leaders and lack of followers, the leaders headed every which way and the result being no progress. Time should straighten out the march, reorganizing the ranks."

Stressing the fact that "great issues, not individual leaders produce new political parties," THE WASHINGTON EVENING STAR recalls that "it was thus that the Republican party had its birth," and expresses the opinion that Dr. Butler "would probably have been better off had he taken just one issue instead of fourteen for his new party." THE FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM sees "no third party yet" on the horizon, although it believes that "few observers will contradict the assertion that the two major parties need to be reanimated with a spirit of unselfish service for the Nation as a whole, in harmony with the fundamentals of true democracy. But dispassionate examination of these recent third-party utterances fails to disclose any real reason for a political uprising outside the existing parties."

Of the opinion that it "is generally true that a new party requires a dynamic political leader to sway a considerable following," the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES fails to find one in the picture. Reviewing the possibilities for leaders of such a party, The Times states: "Al Smith has wide popular appeal, even if he hasn't a chance of being elected President. There is not a remote chance that he will desert the party that has carried him far on the road to fame and fortune. Franklin D. Roosevelt is more of a liberal than most of the Democratic aspirants. With a strong delegation backing him for the presidential nomination, there is no chance to swing him from party regularity. Among the Republicans there are Senators Borah, Norris and La Follette. The strongest of these, perhaps, is Borah, and he has resisted similar calls before. Young Bob La Follette saw his father fail in a similar effort. Senator Norris left his own party in one presidential campaign to no avail. There are few if any others in public life or politically prominent who have the gift of leadership, or a national following of much consequence," concludes this paper.

Oil Tankers In Race With Time

Oil Tanker Captains Asked By Owners To Have Ships In Ports By June 20

NEW TAX WILL BE EFFECTIVE

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—An "oil rush" with the port of Philadelphia as the goal, is being waged today on the high seas.

Unlike other oil rushes and other famous stampedes, the race is not to get to the oil, but to get the oil here.

The reason is the new tax bill. Hundreds of dollars in taxes are at stake. The United States will collect 21 cents on every barrel of oil tankers bring into port after 5:30 p. m. June 20.

The "rush" began last week when President Hoover signed the new tax bill, providing for special tariffs on imports of oil, coal and copper.

Are Rushing Oil.

American oil importers immediately notified captains and crews of their tankers to get as much oil as possible into the country before the "deadline."

Special bonuses and prizes have been offered by owners of the tankers. So the tankers are steaming for the port at top speed.

The new tax law is effective June 21. The manifest for the cargo, however, must be in the custom house before 5:30 p. m. June 20.

The British tanker El Aleto, which left Philadelphia last week for Ecuador, is one of the vessels that may get into port before the "deadline."

Should the tanker return in time, more than $15,000 in taxes will be saved.

Don't Fail to Reckon With Your Future

Man faces a constantly recurring series of primary wants that are inescapable.

He also is continually confronted with new wants that spring up on every side.

All these wants are relentless, almost merciless. They appear and make themselves keenly felt—regardless of whether or not we possess the means of appeasing or fulfilling them.

The wants of the future can be met either—shiftlessly, unexpectedly, unthrifty, with bitter disappointment, or—with foresight, planning and providence, for security and satisfaction.

Those who regularly invest part of their income in a thrift account can meet their future wants triumphantly.

Located At Home In England—Sister Away On Visit

Confident Daughter Innocent In Lindbergh Kidnaping Case

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1932, By International News Service)

BEENHAM, BERKSHIRE, England, June 11.—Mrs. George Sharpe, 60-year-old mother of Violet and Edna Sharpe, sisters suddenly linked through the suicide of the former, was located in this village, ten miles west of Reading, by International News Service today.

A telegram announcing the death of Violet in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, the kidnapped baby's grandmother, in Englewood, N. J., where she was employed as a maid, was received at 9:30 a. m. today. It merely said Violet had "passed away."

A brother, James, had learned of the suicide in the morning papers, however, and was informing his mother of the tragic news as this correspondent arrived.

Sister Returned From U. S. According to Mrs. Sharpe, Edna, whose name actually is Emily, was now visiting a sister elsewhere in England. Edna, according to dispatches from the United States, left that country four days after $50,000 ransom was paid for the baby's return and now is sought for questioning by New Jersey authorities.

When told that her daughter had killed herself with poison, Mrs. Sharpe cried:

"Oh my God, that's the worst of all." Mrs. Sharpe, whose husband is a local truck driver, said that last Monday she had received from Violet except one received three days ago. Previous letters, she said, contained "only random news of the search for the Lindbergh baby."

"Violet said she wished they'd find the baby," Mrs. Sharpe declared. "And save her from all that terrible questioning."

"She often referred to poor Mrs. Lindbergh," Mrs. Sharpe went on. "She never mentioned any boy friends and never intimated she nor Emily (Edna) were in any way connected with the kidnaping."

"My girls are both good and never caused me any trouble," Violet's last letter to her mother, she said, to this correspondent, read as follows:

"Just a few hurried lines. I hope you're feeling better and are having nice weather over there. It's been so hot here I almost went for a swim last week to get cooled off a bit."

"Well, Ma, how do you like your baby being home? (A reference to Edna's returning to England). If I was here I would stay out of this awful heat and come back in September in time to get a job for the winter."

"I don't know whether I'll be able to come home. They're still looking for the guys that killed that poor little baby. Mrs. Lindbergh's expecting another in August, so I hope they'll look after it better."

"Have you been away anywhere since Babs came home? You don't write me very much these days. Is there nothing new, or are you too busy?"

"Do you feel like doing cooking now, and does Edna eat plenty?"

HOOVER PLANK DOESN'T SATISFY G. O. P. WETS

President Not Out For Repeal

Hoover Said To Favor Plank For Re-submission Only Of Dry Amendment

WETS DEMANDING MOVE FOR REPEAL

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 11.—A full-fledged revolt was in progress today against the prohibition plank which President Hoover is understood to favor for inclusion in the Republican national platform.

As drawn up in Washington, the plank proposes nothing more or less than re-submission of the whole question of prohibition to the states, with no recommendation as to how the referendum is to be accomplished, nor any specific question to be voted upon.

Not Satisfied
This does not satisfy the Republican wets. They want a stronger plank—embracing the straight-out repeal of the 18th Amendment, and they feel they are strong enough to push it through. They are pinning their hopes to Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, who came to Chicago today with a plank far stronger than any yet proposed by those who represent the White House.

The Butler plank contemplates putting the convention on record as proposing outright repeal of the amendment. Against this is the plank brought to Chicago by President Hoover's emissaries, which merely says:

"We favor prompt submission by congress of the (prohibition) question to the people."

May Modify Views
The White House spokesmen, among them Postmaster General Brown and James R. Garfield, chairman-designate of the platform committee, have reported back to Washington on the temper of the delegates as displayed to date. Their reports have had a decidedly wet tinge.

Whether Mr. Hoover will modify his views remains to be seen. He has agreed reluctantly to a re-submission plank—of vague phraseology—but beyond that he has not gone. But unless he objects strenuously, it seems reasonably certain the convention next week will demand the submission of a forthright repeal plank to the various states.

O.K. Convention Plan

Early arrivals in Chicago for the Republican national convention, Lafayette B. Gleason (seated), of New York, secretary of the convention, and George deB. Keim, committee secretary, are shown at their hotel as they studied a seating plan of Chicago Stadium.

Observations In 7th Ward

There seems to be a bumper crop of rock gardens in seventh ward this summer. The latest of them are located in the front of the E. H. G. Coates and J. Ed. McWilliams residences on North Liberty street.

When those dozen or more baby trees, which were planted last year in the Liberty street park, become adult trees, they will furnish some much needed shade. There are a few shade trees in the park at the present time but not enough to make it a very cool place to rest.

Several local people were seen in their garden yesterday trying out a new fangled weed-puller, invented by a brother of Mrs. Bessie Cunningham of West Clayton street.

Pageant To Be Given Tomorrow Night At Church

Cast of characters in the children's day pageant, "Forbidden Them Not" which will be presented Sunday evening at the Mahoning Methodist church, had their dress rehearsal last evening, and are in readiness for the presentation. People attending church tomorrow are urged to bring garden flowers with them for use in the church auditorium.

Erie Methodists Win Church Track Meet

Croton Second, St. Vitus Third

Well Balanced Erie Team Has Close Victory In Track Carnival

McCALL, WATSON, BURRY ARE STARS

With a well balanced team Erie Methodists won the second annual church track and field carnival held at Taggart field last night under the floodlights. Erie finished with a total of 30 points, just three better than Croton M. E. of this city. The meet was hotly contested in every race. About 400 witnessed the cinder path stars in action. The meet was very close right down until the finish with any one of the four leading teams able to win the mile relay, the mile relay, Croton M. E. the defending champion were not far outclassed and went down fighting.

The four teams that made the meet so successful were Erie Methodists, Croton M. E., St. Vitus and St. John's Lutheran, and the teams finished in that order for the first four places. Watson of Erie Methodists, McCall of St. John's, Burry of St. John's and James of St. Vitus were the heavy point getters for the men. Grace Kneram of Croton M. E., Cotton of Highland U. P., Latimer of Wesley M. E. and Byers of Highland U. P. and Earhart of Croton won the places in the dashes for the girls.

Results Very Close
The meet was not decided until the final event on the card the mile relay for men with St. Vitus taking first place and Erie M. E. taking second. Croton failed to place in the relay which have given them either a deadlock or first place in the standings.

Considering the fact that a great many of the athletes were out of condition some fast time was turned in for the sprints and the distances. Burry of St. John's, Westminster star mile and half-mile took these two events in fine shape, his time for the mile was 4:33 2-5 which is very good. Patsy James, St. Vitus, and a New Castle high track star showed a fine pair of heels to the field in the 440-yard dash, with Willie Campbell, of the Colored Baptists running second.

McCall Is Good
The surprise sprinter of the meet was McCall of St. John's Lutheran who took first place in both the hundred and 50-yard dashes. McCall's time for the century was 10:2 which under conditions was considered very good. His 50-yard dash time was 5:2 which is not to be sneezed at either. Lasky of St. Vitus, New Castle high track star ran second in the 50-yard dash, while Greensburg, Temple Israel, former New Castle high track star was second in the 100-yard dash. With a little training this man McCall would make the best of them step to beat him.

The meet was a big success in every way. The officials who had charge of the meet were: Track Manager, Ralph H. Gardner; Starter, Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh; Timer, Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh; Judges, Hon. Mayor Charles Mayne, Norman "Scotts" Nelson, Dr. William Jones, and Charles "Bugs" Walther. Grommes was the announcer.

At the conclusion of the meet Rev. Clifford Joshua, of the Croton M. E. church, assisted by John Rubels chairman of the track carnival assisting presented the various winners with beautiful gifts.

Riley Corrects Account Of Game

Captain Dave Riley, of the St. Andrews church mullball team, takes this means of correcting the published account of the St. Andrews-Croton game which appeared in Friday night's News, and which was turned in by the Cunningham A. C. players.

Riley contends that the St. Andrews team has only played the Cunningham A. C. twice this year and that the teams have split in the two games. Riley says that two of the games were just pick-up affairs and that the St. Andrews team did not have their full lineup, also that the Cunningham team did not have any equipment and that St. Andrews played anyway. However, Riley says that St. Andrews will settle the controversy by playing the full team. A. C. anytime with their full team. St. Andrews has won 5 and lost 6 games this year.

Radiators Trim Ind. Merchants

National Radiator mullball team handed the Ind. Merchants a 18 to 15 setback, last night at the Lehigh field, in a New Castle mullball league game. The game was a free hitting affair. The Radiators bunched hits in the second, fifth and sixth to tally 14 of their runs.

Batteries: Radiators—Hesley, Van Buren and Shaffie; Merchants—Shaffer, Dwyer and Regan. Umpire—Price.

Williams Trim W. S. Merchants

Williams' mullball team handed the West Side Merchants a 23 to 16 setback last night at Clifton Flats field in a New Castle mullball league game. DeFallo, Travers and H. Jones hit homers, for the Williams, while C. Krueger and Walther hit homers for the West Siders.

Verdict Reduced In Court Order

Opinion Handed Down In Case Of W. H. Dunlap, Jr., Against Dominick Sylvester

Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion at court this morning in the case of William H. Dunlap, Jr., use of Louis P. Dean, use of William H. Dunlap, Jr., against Dominick J. Dunlap, Jr. and Wester. This case involved a complex matter arising out of the sale of a property in the fourth ward to defendants, on which there was a first mortgage of $8,000 to the State Capital Savings and Loan Association, and a second mortgage to Dunlap. There were several transfers of the property after it had been got it, and also a reduction of the second mortgage.

The final outcome of the case resulted in an execution on the second mortgage and a subsequent verdict.

Cabinet Members Get Orders For Big Convention

Two White House Secretaries Going To Chicago

IVEN ORDERS
ABOUT PLATFORM

Re GEORGE E. DUENO

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Seven cabinet officers and two White House secretaries received their oral instructions from President over today preliminary to departure for Chicago and the Republican national convention which is set to nominate the executive next week. Postmaster General Walter F. Brown already is on the scene.

Phraselogy of the prohibition bank in the platform being the only potentially disturbing factor in an otherwise cut-and-dried agenda at the convention, most observers assumed the instructions largely had do with the wet-dry issue not at all, it was stated at the White House. Mr. Hoover and his aides have gone to great pains in the past few days to assure the country that the delegates, not the President, will be taken, and came out assuring newspaper men that "no President of the United States ever wrote a platform for the Republican party."

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

CATTLE SHOW AT NEW WILMINGTON

Approximately 80 head of purebred Jersey cattle will be exhibited at the joint Lawrence-Mercer progress show in New Wilmington June 17.

The cattle to be exhibited have been selected from the herds of the Lawrence and Mercer county Jersey clubs by a committee of breeders. This will mean that the individuals exhibited will be the outstanding cattle from these herds.

Through the courtesy and cooperation of the business men of New Wilmington arrangements have been made to hold the show on the grounds around the New Wilmington swimming pool. Ribbons which will be given the first four places in each of the classes judged, will also be furnished by the business men.

The committee in charge of the grounds is arranging for refreshment and lunch stands on the grounds.

The Lawrence county herd owners whose cattle will be exhibited are: Lauren Thompson, M. G. Moore & Son, N. E. Sampson, J. W. Cox & Son and John Lago of New Wilmington, S. B. Martin & Son of Scott township, J. A. Boak & Son of Slippery Rock township, J. W. Martin & Sons of North Beaver township, Ellis Clark and J. W. Bronson of Little Beaver township. The public is invited to attend the show.

FLY TIME MEANS TROUBLE

Tapeworms are carried to chickens by intermediate hosts, especially house flies.

To prevent tapeworm infestation, therefore, chickens should be kept away from the breeding places of flies, the most common of which are barnyard or manure flies.

Some poultrymen consider orchards ideal for summer ranges, but there are at least two serious drawbacks to using them for this purpose. Rotten apples attract flies, and tapeworm infestation has been traced several times to this source. The area under the trees is likely to be damp and filthy also, which favors the spread of both worms and coccidiosis.

PRUNE BLOOMING SHRUBS

Pruning of several shrubs as soon as their blossoms fade is recommended.

In this group are deutzias, fringe tree, forsythia, lilacs, pearlbush, mockorange, flowering quince, viburnum, spring-flowering spiraea, weigela, climbing roses, bush honeysuckle (except those that bear fruit), and dogwood (except those which bear berries).

Seed pods and blossoms also should be removed from rhododendrons and mountain laurel.

QUALITY STRAWBERRIES BRING BETTER RESULTS

Retail marketing of strawberries usually brings a higher net profit than any other form of marketing. Quality berries, therefore, will command a greater premium than if marketed otherwise.

In order to attain this ideal quality product many factors must be considered. Chief of these factors, however, is careful handling.

Many pickers try to keep too many berries in their hands while picking, whereas the handful should be placed in the container at frequent intervals. Smashing of the fruit thus avoided to a considerable degree.

Fruit should remain on the berries but long stems should be plucked off as this results in an unattractive display of fruit. Hull-less berries break down quickly if held or stored very long.

Packing fruit well pays large dividends because the buyer is willing to pay a higher price for an attractive product. This difference in price between well-arranged fruit and carelessly filled boxes without arrangement often amounts to five cents a box. On a yield of 4000 to 6000 quarts per acre this difference in price may represent the difference between a season of profit and loss.

KEEP DAIRY HEIFERS GROWING FROM BIRTH

Dairy heifers should be kept growing from birth to the time they enter the milking herd. Size and vigor in dairy cows are necessary to most profitable milk production, and in order to develop size and vigor there should be no neglect nor scant feed during the period of growth. For best results, the calf should have milk or a good milk substitute for the first six months, in addition to good quality hay and grain.

It is not desirable to turn calves to the pasture under six months of age. After calves are on pasture they should be carefully watched and grain feeding continued in case the calves stop growing. Most pastures get short in late summer, and calves should be carefully watched at this time and additional feed given if required. Well-bred calves will raised insure a good future herd.

MANAGE BEES SO THAT SWARMING IS REDUCED

As the bee colonies grow stronger steps to prevent swarming must be taken.

Give each strong colony additional ventilation. Place one inch blocks at each corner of the hive between the hive body and the bottom board. This additional space gives the old bees a place to cluster during the night or on rainy days. The circulation of air below the brood also helps to reduce swarming.

Light shade boards should be placed on each hive to keep off the direct rays of the sun and make the hive comfortable.

During the swarming season an inspection should be made of each colony about every eight or ten days. If queen cells are found they should be torn out to give the colony additional ventilating space. If queen cells are found a second time not only should they be torn out but three or four frames of honey and unsealed brood also should be removed and then three or four frames containing full sheets of foundation put in the center of the hive. The frames removed may be given to a weak colony to fill with honey for extracting.

If any colonies swarm, the swarm should be returned to the old hive, the queen cells destroyed and three or four combs removed. Replace the combs with frames containing full sheets of foundation. It is important that the working force be kept together until the end of the first main honey flow.

It is a good plan always to provide a little more storage space for honey than the bees need. If the hive becomes crowded the bees will loaf and then it will be difficult to get them back to work again.

FLOWERS AND SHRUBS NEED CARE IN JUNE

Timely tasks face the flower gardener and home landscaper this month.

Newly transplanted trees, shrubs, evergreens and flowering plants should be watered and mulched. Watering after the heat of the day is preferable. Commercial peat may be used as a mulch in order to conserve moisture.

Many varieties of perennials may be sown this month. Consult garden catalogs and bulletins for information regarding types to sow.

In order to have large buds on roses, pinch out all but the terminal bud. Eliminate suckering growth from roses.

Tender water lilies may be set in pools this month.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This thing of gardening seems to have reached heroic proportions. You can understand a chap putting in a dime's worth of onions or a couple of tomato plants just for the sake of appearances, but it has gone far beyond that.

Passed Tom Cunningham and Doc McCann last night as they were manfully contesting the right-of-way with a flock of milkweed and at the same time get the spuds laid in the right trench. They have taken over something like 10 acres of ground for garden purposes, and if they only get one bean from each hill they'll have enough for most of the second ward.

Just yet the acres look bare, save where the early corn has pushed its nose up over the horizon and the beans have started cracking open their shells. But wait a few weeks. If the tomatoes all bear it will need a railroad siding in there to get them all out.

Not even during the war years was there such a rash of gardening. Vacant lots seem to bring on a temperature among folks these days, and it's going to be a tough season on the weeds. They'll have no place to go.

All we need is a couple of days of rain, an old-fashioned drizzle that keeps going from dinner time until the next afternoon.

Up at Volant the folks are getting ready to don a couple of new bridges as part of their civic garb. Those old-time covered bridges that have been there for longer than you can remember will be completely out, and the entrance to the borough will be over a regular up-town bridge.

There was one thing you could say for those old covered bridges. They were dandy places to pull in with a horse and buggy when the rain caught you six miles from town.

Seems that some of the old-time covered bridges are still in the memory of people who have lived here. Heard a couple of motorists ask for the old covered bridge on the Butler road some days ago. They were wondering where it had stood, and for your information it stood on the site of the present bridge.

Lawrence county has but a couple of such relics left and unless it is necessary from the standpoint of safety to tear them down, they should be left.

From an artistic standpoint they looked like a stout woman with a heavy overcoat on. Beauty was not their first claim, but quaintness was.

Daring Parachute Jumpers Will Be Here On Sunday

Four Parachute Jumpers At New Castle Airport, Double Jump To Feature

New Castle aviation enthusiasts will gather at the New Castle airport on the Youngstown road Sunday to watch Captain Garry Garrison and his trained parachute jumpers commonly called air daredevils from Pittsburgh.

The parachute jumps, according to Pindley Wilson, local pilot, will start about 2 o'clock and continue every hour until dark. Captain Garrison will also execute the difficult double jump for the spectators. This is a special event and one of the most breath-taking of all parachute jumps.

Included in the group of jumpers with Captain Garrison will be Miss Mae Wonn, one of the few girl jumpers in the United States. Miss Wonn will jump from a height of 2,000 or 3,000 feet, which is high for a woman. In event of good weather the local airport should be packed for the event.

Grand Jury Favors Salary Reductions

Recommendation Is Made In Report Presented Late Friday

NO SUGGESTION ON NEW COURT HOUSE

Salary cuts of at least 20 per cent for all county employees, except where the salary is fixed by law, was recommended by the grand jury Friday afternoon in presentations made to court.

In making the recommendation the grand jury stated that a check on the pay rolls of the different county offices had been made and that in view of conditions, economy should be the watchword of county officials.

The jury reported that during the week action had been taken on 59 indictments, of which 48 had been reported true bills and 11 not true bills.

The jury stated that a visit had been made to the county home and that it had been found in excellent condition. The jail was also found to be well kept, but would stand more ventilation.

Regarding the agitation for a new court house, the jury was of the opinion that while it would be nice to have a new court house it would be unwise to undertake to increase taxation at the present time.

Some minor changes were recommended at the juvenile home. The jury was composed of 13 women and nine men, one woman and one man having been excused at the opening of court. Edwin C. Wilson of the second ward was foreman.

Mayor Reversed In Decision By Court

Wayne Bonnett And Leonard Stauffer Found Not Guilty Of Violating City Ordinance

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning, Wayne Bonnett and Leonard Stauffer were found not guilty of violating a city ordinance in soliciting orders and making deliveries of merchandise here without a city license.

The case is one in which Mayor Charles B. Mayne held that Bonnett and Stauffer had violated a city ordinance and assessed small fines and costs. Bonnett and Stauffer took an appeal and the matter came before the court on a stated case.

The defendants were employed by Hoyt Bros. Inc., of Newark, N. J. The company had a branch office established at Youngstown and Bonnett and Stauffer were working out of that office. They solicited orders for toilet preparations in this city, took them to Youngstown, where they were filled, and delivered the goods in this city.

It was claimed that they were violating a city ordinance requiring that a license be taken out. Defendants contended that they were engaged in interstate commerce and that a license was not required, as they were outside of the taxing power of Pennsylvania.

In holding the defendants not guilty Judge Chambers cited numerous supreme court opinions in similar cases in support of his position that the defendants were engaged in interstate commerce.

An Institution For Your Benefit

New Castle Credit Exchange

The Credit Exchange is here to make credit accessible to those who are worthy of credit and who pay their bills promptly.

But it also protects its members—300 leading merchants, professional men, banks and public service corporations of this community—against the careless customer who is rated "too slow to be desirable" and the outright "dead beat" who doesn't pay because he is dishonest.

At the same time it extends an earnest offer of help to all those who have been unable to meet their obligations for reasons beyond their control, and to those who have been a little careless without any wilful intent.

In the office of the Credit Exchange are more than 75,000 cards. Almost everybody in this vicinity is rated. How is your credit rating?
